- Collection of herbs should be in a jar with a list of varieties attached to the jar.
- New class 2025: Three corn cobs. To be opened/husked halfway.

FLOWERS – CUT & DECORATIVE

All flowers/plant material – excepting Decorative Section – must have been grown by the entrant.

General:

- Vases and saucers are not provided, please bring your own containers.
- Flowers may be supported in the vases with newspaper, foam or other suitable material. This should not be visible.
- Sand saucers must have a green border and not have any sand visible.

FLOWERS – CUT & DECORATIVE

Roses:

- A patio rose is several blooms on one stem (miniature floribunda).
- A miniature rose is a single bloom on a stem

HELPFUL HINTS FROM DECORATIVE FLOWERS JUDGE

1. All oasis, wet or dry should be covered.
2. Test some flowers for hold-ability before the day. Some (eg, daisies) don't hold in oasis and wilt fast. Wilted flowers affect placings.
3. Aqua jars – watch to get smallest bubble possible. Look at scale relative to size of jar.
4. Sometimes less is more - stick with a colour theme or variety of flower for ease on the eye.

CUT FLOWERS - VARIETIES

Class 838 COLLECTION OF 4 FLOWERING SHRUBS, different varieties, 1 of each

Class 839 COLLECTION OF PERENNIALS, 8 different varieties, 1 stem of each, includes bulbs

Class 840 COLLECTION OF ANNUALS, 8 different varieties, 1 stem of each

Different varieties means separate varieties of shrub/perennial/annual rather than one variety, eg, Phlox or Begonia, in multiple colours. A variety is a naturally occurring variation of a plant within a species.
